Message from the Executive Director

Social issues are no longer only third world problems. They exist everywhere, including here on the North Shore. Sadly, we have seen unprecedented numbers of homeless seniors taking refuge in their cars, couch-surfing or worse—living on the streets, while too many youth find themselves without a home, without a job, or as victims of abuse. This past year we noted 143 children who, along with their family, experienced homelessness, prompting Hollyburn Family Services Society to stretch our funds and our staff to help ensure no child resides in a car or a tent. We saw a 228% increase of violence towards people over 65 years of age. Our specialized Victim Support Workers helped hundreds of children and adults impacted by family violence, while responding to nearly 1,000 general inquiries.

We are so proud of the enormous impact we have made addressing these issues. With less than 30 staff and almost half of our revenues raised through fundraising initiatives and grants, we made a difference. We raised awareness, we sparked conversations, we inspired change, and we responded to the growing need.

We certainly did not do this alone. It takes a community and our community stood up and said they would help. Our unequivocal success is fully shared with those who worked with us, who shared our vision, who embraced our mission, and who made monetary contributions, donations of goods, housing for seniors, and employment for youth. We thank you.

Nanette Taylor, Executive Director
